THANK YOU!

by Scott Blades, Executive Director

25 years ago—May 1994. Our friends were dying, the fear and stigma around HIV were stifling, and the support network for people with AIDS was a courageous core of amazing people who had built an infrastructure to address the immediate crisis in our community.

In May 1994, a small group of members of the AIDS ministry program at St. Francis in the Foothills United Methodist Church were beginning the outreach and inviting representatives from 450 faith communities in Tucson to a meeting in June to talk about how we could collaborate and support each other in addressing AIDS. We were hoping for a great turnout at the event. Only eleven faith communities responded and sent a representative. We were devastated that the silence and stigma, fear and apathy kept so many faith communities from joining us.

But those eleven faith communities that did show up began a conversation that would form a new network of support to enhance AIDS awareness and engage more of Southern Arizona's community in being part of the solution.

It was at that June meeting when the movement began that would soon become TIHAN. 25 years later, we're still here. So much has changed, and we've worked to evolve and adapt our response as the landscape of AIDS has changed in so many ways. We never expected or wanted to be here 25 years later. We were sure there would be a cure long before now... We still wait for that day, and we serve while we wait.

It's been heart-breaking. And exhausting. Inspiring. Devastating. Infuriating. Empowering. Provoking. Galvanizing. Invigorating. And heart-breaking.

As our coalition of individuals, businesses, faith communities, and nonprofit groups now commemorates 25 years of serving the HIV community, it's important for us to remember where we've been, the people and relationships that have touched us, and the amazing love and care you've offered to honor, remember, and transform lives.

Really Living, Not Just Existing: Ruben's Journey with HIV

Ruben has been living with HIV since 2003, but credits his involvement with TIHAN with helping him to more fully live his life. "TIHAN has breathed new life into me. I'm living now, not just existing," he says, because that has not always been the case.

Ruben recalls getting his HIV diagnosis over the phone. It didn't register at first; he remembers it feeling like an out-of-body experience. He remembers the shock and then the feelings of despair. "I remember feeling like, wow, my life is over," he shares. Assuming that his life was over, Ruben didn't care anymore and turned to drugs and alcohol to cope — until he decided he just couldn't live that way any longer.

It was during this time that the Southern Arizona AIDS Foundation (SAAF) referred Ruben to TIHAN for financial assistance. "At the time I found TIHAN, I was still in the 'gloom and doom' phase and didn't want to do anything," he says. Eventually, Ruben sought out therapy for his mental health needs and the depression surrounding his diagnosis, and he began seeing a therapist at El Rio's Special Immunology Associates. He started coming to TIHAN each month to receive a CarePackage filled with household essentials.

Ruben says the impact of a CarePackage is tremendous. "If you haven't been in need, you don't realize that everyday items can feel like the gold at the end of the rainbow," he says as he talks about not having to worry anymore about being able to buy things like toilet tissue, soap, and shampoo.

For Ruben, receiving CarePackages is what encouraged him to start volunteering at TIHAN. If something as simple as a CarePackage could make such a difference, he thought, then he too could give back—even in a small way—and still make a difference. Ruben got more involved with TIHAN a few years later, and has been a regular face at TIHAN in numerous roles since 2017. "Giving back helps boost my emotional well-being," he says, crediting that boost to his getting more involved socially with TIHAN outside of volunteering.

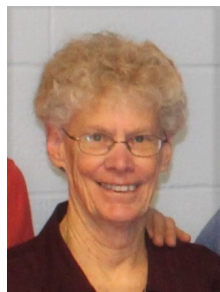

At this year's Annual Meeting and Volunteer Appreciation Event, TIHAN honored Ruben for his volunteer impact in administrative and educational roles, and he was nominated for the Empowerment Award, which recognizes people living with HIV/AIDS who have demonstrated exceptional courage and achievement. Ruben was excited to bring members of his family and his best friend to the event, as he says that they have recognized the impact that TIHAN has had on his life and the joy he experiences by being involved here.

"TIHAN is my home for volunteering," Ruben shares. "It feels like a family." Although the smaller size of TIHAN is what initially drew Ruben to volunteer, he knows that the size of an agency doesn't necessarily reflect its impact. "Just because TIHAN is a smaller organization, doesn't mean it doesn't do big things for CarePartners," he says. "Sometimes just having someone to talk to is a huge help."

Our Network of Support Makes a Difference

TIHAN is a collaboration of individuals, families, businesses, groups, and faith communities whose mission is to build a community where there's no HIV stigma, where people get tested and treated, and where people with HIV can live as well as possible.

We are proud that, with the support of so many caring friends in 2018, TIHAN provided support services to more people living with HIV than in any year in our history. Thank you for making it possible for us to help so many people.

Because of you, we've been able to stay focused on the needs of our community, and connect those needs with the vast resources of caring people and groups who want to help.

We know that the stigma of HIV makes people less likely to get tested, enroll in care, stay on treatment, and maintain a suppressed viral load. We know that there is still discrimination against people with HIV, and that depression and isolation continue to be major barriers. The fear and judgment still too often associated with HIV is wrong, and we continue our efforts to bring accurate information and loving support to Southern Arizona.

I recently saw a quote, from an unknown author, that speaks to the importance of our work:

"Community is the safety net from an unjust world."

In the face of stigma and injustice, in the context of poverty and co-existing conditions that make it challenging for too many people living with HIV to thrive, a caring community comes together through TIHAN to be part of that safety net. To be that network of love and support that provides a framework for change—not only in the circumstances of individual lives, but also to make change in the broader social conditions that exist. Together, we do this.

As we move into 2019, when TIHAN will commemorate 25 years of serving the HIV community, we continue to build partnerships of support that provide hope and help for people living with HIV.

In 2018, our Poz Café partnerships included 37 faith communities and groups, as well as 21 community agencies at our annual resource fair to ensure our CarePartners living with HIV are engaged with as much help as possible.

Our Living Well with HIV program partnerships included 15 agencies assisting, and an advisory committee with representatives from six community groups.

In fact, every single program and event at TIHAN involves partnerships. It's as essential to TIHAN's philosophy as is our focus on involving volunteers. And it's one of the things that makes TIHAN unique in our community. It's not always the easiest or fastest way. Building partnerships and engaging volunteers are time-consuming tasks that require lots of attention and communication.

But we know these efforts are worthwhile. They involve more people, build stronger systems, and create lasting impacts.

We are grateful for your donations, your voluntarism, and your partnerships with us over the past 24 years, and especially today.

Thank you for helping end HIV stigma and supporting people with HIV to live as well as possible.

Partnering with faith communities, nonprofit groups, for-profit companies, families, and individuals, we create meaningful opportunities to connect and support.

Thank you for being part of this amazing organization that works to build a community where everyone is included, embraced, and supported to live well.

TIHAN'S PROGRAMS AND SERVICES: 2018

Linking People to Resources and Care – TIHAN's Link Specialist volunteers connected 314 CarePartners with a variety of support services including home and hospital visits, weekly check-in phone calls, emotional support, transportation and shopping support, and a host of information, referral, and advocacy support. This represented a significant increase (15%) over the number of people served with Link Specialist support last year. The hundreds of hours of support from TIHAN's volunteers helps keep our CarePartners sustained and engaged in medical care, increasing the likelihood that they will stay adherent to life-saving anti-retroviral medications that can reduce their viral load and minimize the possibility of HIV transmission.

Poz Café Lunch Program – Our monthly lunch and social program served 199 people living with HIV, and their guests. In 2018, we served 1,650 meals, including providing our 27,000th meal at Poz Café! In addition to the nutritious meals, peer support, and socialization opportunities for our CarePartners living with HIV, Poz Café involved 206 volunteers from 37 faith communities and groups with opportunities to learn and serve. After spending a day receiving HIV education and experiencing a hands-on service project, volunteers returned to their faith communities and groups to share the message of love and service to people who have too often borne the brunt of discrimination and marginalization. This program would not be possible without the generous support of St. Francis in the Foothills United Methodist Church.

CarePackages -- We distributed 1,562 CarePackages to 287 people living with HIV. TIHAN's CarePackages (grocery-sized bags of toiletries, hygiene, and cleaning products which cannot be purchased with an EBT card) made life a lot easier on those we served, the vast majority of whom live below the poverty level. Packages were distributed monthly at the TIHAN office, at Poz Café, and via home delivery to those in need. In 2018, we distributed our milestone 15,000th CarePackage!

Living Well with HIV - Living Well with HIV—a curriculum designed to support people in becoming more active participants in their own physical, emotional, and spiritual health and well-being—reached 68 people living with HIV who attended one or more of our 24 classes.

Eating Well, a two-part class offered quarterly, connected people with food resources and taught nutritional essentials such as food budgeting and healthier eating. For this class, we partnered with the University of Arizona's renowned Cooperative Extension Program.

Living Well WITH HIV

Planning Well, a budgeting class available quarterly, taught effective goal-setting tools to manage bills, build and repair credit, reduce debt, and more. This class was done collaboratively through a partnership with professionals from Hughes Federal Credit Union, and supported in part by Our Saviour's Lutheran Church.

Living Well, an ongoing series of classes, offered a different topic of interest each month, such as HIV disclosure, aging with HIV, learning to live with grief, advocating and navigating, and community involvement.

CareTeams -- While the death rate from HIV has declined substantially, there are still occasions when CareTeam support is much-needed. It's a lifeline to those regaining strength or experiencing end-of-life transitions. And because HIV continues to impact people emotionally and physically, TIHAN CareTeams remain available to provide a variety of non-medical support services, providing in-home help, transportation, social support, visits, shopping, and — most importantly — compassion and love. Though the need has changed, we remain ready to respond when called upon. And we provided especially needed CareTeam support to two CarePartners with HIV in 2018.

Collaborations – TIHAN collaborated with many community organizations to bring our message of hope to those living with HIV and to support HIV awareness and prevention.

TIHAN participated in community events such as National Latino AIDS Awareness Day, World AIDS Day, Tucson Pride in the Desert, AIDS Candlelight Memorial, Coalition for African American Health and Wellness, Ward 3 Resource Event, University of Arizona Coming Out Resource Fair, Explore the World of Resources Provider's Summit, and more.

In 2018, TIHAN provided services to a record 382 people living with HIV—6% more than we've ever served in a year.

Holiday Support Programs – In collaboration with the Southern Arizona AIDS Foundation, TIHAN brightened the holidays for 36 families living with HIV/AIDS and their 52 children under the age of 18. Faith communities, groups, and individuals contributed gifts for the children and adults, along with a holiday gathering for families living with HIV to connect and find ways to establish new traditions.

In addition, because isolation and depression are especially common around the holidays, the December Poz Café was a special holiday dinner for adults living with HIV. Designed to create new ways of connecting with chosen family/friends, the party included a chance to celebrate, socialize, dance, and receive a holiday gift donated by generous friends of TIHAN.

Additional Programs and Support Services for People Living with HIV

Emergency Financial Support - TIHAN expedited connections with providers to secure emergency financial assistance to 21 people living with HIV, helping primarily with rent and utility costs. In the spirit of collaboration, we partner with Interfaith Community Services (ICS) and Temple Emanu-El for this program.

Also, we initiated three new programs to help with costs of living in 2018. 24 people received “Starting Over” Supply Kits via the Assistance League of Tucson; 14 people received furniture and household goods from our partnership with the Society of St. Vincent de Paul; and 38 people received free monthly haircuts courtesy of English Salon Spa.

Transportation Support - TIHAN provided 104 rides to persons living with HIV to help them attend Poz Café, along with other rides for shopping and appointments.

Clergy HIV Awareness and Referral Network - Supportive clergy from many faiths are on-call to provide pastoral counseling and support, as well as assist with memorial services for persons living with HIV, if requested.

Sharing Well - In 2018, we continued our speaker’s training program to support people living with HIV to better share their personal stories to dispel stigma and increase support. Eight people with HIV participated.

Faith-Based Presentations and Displays - TIHAN reached thousands of people in faith communities, increasing HIV awareness, teaching the realities of HIV, and inviting people to become engaged in the solution. Through presentations to congregations at worship services and meetings, and by attending events with tables of information, we helped stop silence, fear, myth, and stigma, and enhance resources, advocacy, and support.

Faith Community Liaisons - Through quarterly meetings and regular communication, TIHAN supported faith communities as they expanded perspectives, put faith into action, and served the needs of the wider community. TIHAN worked with the appointed liaison from each participating faith community to keep us abreast of congregational happenings and to convey information about HIV, support services, and events helping the HIV community.

"I had experienced lots of stigma, marginalization, and fear, so it was very unusual to find a group of people who were just like me. It was exciting to find such a group... I felt I had found a compassionate and non-judgmental community to be a part of." — a grateful program recipient living with HIV

Volunteer Impact

In 2018, TIHAN recruited and trained 31 new volunteers, engaging them in our mission and equipping them to make a difference.

Our awesome volunteer team continued to dedicate their time and talents to our highest priorities: AIDS education and awareness, and supporting people living with HIV. Documenting 12,291 volunteer hours, an amazing 522 volunteers showed that there is amazing support for our cause!

The Independent Sector, a national nonprofit that serves the charitable community, estimates the average dollar value of a volunteer hour at $24.69. This means that the volunteer hours donated to TIHAN in 2018 are valued at $303,465!

We are proud to have an incredible community of people making a difference, including these people who we honored in 2018: Tina Krug (Empowerment Award), Ellie Johnson (Myron Morris Excellence in Caring Award), Frank Ptak and Joe Heller (Spirit of Philanthropy Award), Natalie Perry (Stonewall Award), Dr. Kevin Carmichael (Heart Award), and Linda Girard (Leadership Award).

TIHAN's volunteers personify our mission: fostering awareness and education to prevent the spread of HIV and to decrease the level of fear and stigma; providing care and support for all of us living with and affected by HIV so that we can live well; and catalyzing a compassionate response.
